BROADENS IT'S HORIZONS

A black and white photograph of a large, curved, light-colored sign for York College of Pennsylvania. The sign is mounted on a brick wall and features the text "YORK COLLEGE" in large, bold, serif capital letters, followed by "OF" in smaller letters, and "PENNSYLVANIA" in bold, serif capital letters. The sign is partially obscured by tree branches at the top. In front of the sign is a low brick wall with several rounded, dark bushes. A curved concrete path leads from the foreground towards the sign. The background is filled with large, leafy trees.

TRADITION

"There is a way of living that has a certain grace and beauty. It is not a constant race for what is next, rather, an appreciation of what has come before. There is a depth and quality of experience that is lived and felt, a recognition of what is truly meaningful."

Ralph Lauren

York, Pennsylvania - Capital of the Nation from September 30, 1777 to June 27, 1778. The Articles of Confederation were adopted here on November 15, 1777 with the name The United States of America.
